

PRESS RELEASE

Title: The Engineer, Safe Contractor story, Dec 2009

The screenshot shows a news article on the website 'theENGINEER'. The website's logo is at the top, with the tagline 'First for technology & innovation' and the URL 'www.theengineer.co.uk'. Below the logo is a navigation bar with tabs for Home, News, In-depth, Opinion, Video, Directory, and Jobs. The 'News' tab is selected. On the left side, there are two vertical menus: 'Channels' and 'Sectors'. The 'Channels' menu includes Skills & Careers, Policy & Business, Design Engineering, Production Engineering, Awards, and Events. The 'Sectors' menu includes Aerospace, Automotive, Civil & Structural, Electronics, Energy & Environment, Medical & Healthcare, Military & Defence, and Rail & Marine. The main content area shows the article title 'Lorien Engineering Solutions is awarded a top safety accolade' and a sub-headline 'Lorien Engineering Solutions has been awarded a topsafety accolade by a leading health and safety accreditation scheme.' Below the sub-headline is a small photograph of three men in suits standing together. The article text states that Lorien Engineering Solutions has been awarded a top safety accolade by a leading health and safety accreditation scheme. The Midlands-based engineering design and product management specialist has become one of a select band of companies to have been accredited for the fourth year running by SAFEcontractor, a programme that recognises high standards of health and safety practise amongst UK contractors and professionals. At the bottom of the article, there is a thick horizontal line.
